Welcome Anthony Cadle
Dayton Main Street

Anthony is a First Generation college graduate from the University of Kentucky, where he majored in Economics with two minors. Graduating in 2013, Anthony continued his education by enrolling in the University of Kentucky's One-year accelerated MPA course, he is currently finishing his final Capstone project. Anthony is a native to the City of Dayton, Kentucky and a 2010 alumnus of Dayton High School. As a high school student, he was extremely involved in the School and the Dayton community. Anthony is now returning to his hometown, after a 4-year college sabbatical, and he is ready to grow Dayton. At 23 years old Anthony is extremely energetic and excited to be part of the City of Dayton and the Main Street Program. He hopes leading the well-established Main Street program in Dayton will assist him in realizing an exemplary city to call home.

More news from Detroit and NMSC

First, thank you to all the managers who submitted their thoughts & reflections from the conference! Here is an item that you may have missed. This is good information to share with your boards and your communities.

Follow this link for a recap of Donovan Rypkema's keynote address. It was very powerful!
